REWARD!

Please do NOT chase her.

Please do NOT chase
her.

If you see her, do not chase her. This will result in frightening her further.

IMMEDIATELY CALL:

1-877-JFK-VIVI

or 917-647-4848 or 917-626-1374

1. If you are in a car, do not get out of it close to her. Don't slam the car door and don't call her. You will only frighten her further.
2. If possible, sit down on the ground and eat something (noisily!). Share with her if she gets close. Drop some food on the ground. Talk to her gently and casually, as if you see her every day and don't care that much about her. Don't even look at her. If she lets you, pet her gently but do not try to grab her. She is much faster than you are and cannot be caught until she wants to.
3. You should not have a big or noisy dog with you. If you have a calm whippet or small dog on a leash and Vivi is nearby, make a big show of feeding your dog. Nothing will make her hungrier than seeing another dog eat.
4. Do not walk directly toward her. Avoid eye contact. Be casual yet friendly. Not until you can quietly put a strong leash with a choke collar around her neck should you try to do so, and don't even do that if you are not experienced enough to deal with a dog that might easily panic.
5. In a best case scenario, quietly close a door or gate (a tall one, she can probably jump 6 feet if necessary) behind her. If not, just making non-threatening contact is a huge step forward, and establish a place where she can be fed.
6. The most important thing, is that Vivi should not feel chased or "hunted" - so she doesn't feel like you're moving into her comfort area.
7. If you are successful in capturing Vivi, put her in a car or safe room ASAP. Make sure nobody accidentally opens a door. Be calm and quiet and call the numbers listed above.
